

I wanted to voice my opinion on the development of LPFM radio as it pertains to knocking out radio stations that use translators. I listen to one of these stations, K-LOVE, on a translator from time to time on my travels and it is of great value to me, as well as those served by the translators on a more permanent basis. There is a lot to be said for a positive and encouraging station like K-Love to be able to be heard in small communities in the nation's heartland. The message may be just what someone needs to hear that day to make it through. Without translators many of these areas would be without any Faith Based radio at all. Translators allow hundreds of thousands of people to be reached that wouldn't otherwise be reached. Translators also allow the radio station to operate with less overhead by having a nationally centered operation. This is a great asset to a non-profit station. Please don't take away this valuable service!
